

FARMERS' HELP IS NEEDED EVERYWHERECAN DO MUCH TO AID THE CY-CLONE SUFFERERS IN CLEAR-ING UP.

WORK TO BE FINISHED

In 'Rush Before The' Extreme Cold Weather Begins—Many Need Aid Immediately.

What appears to be the most crying need of the storm sufferers today is the necessity of clearing up the debris, putting the houses and barns into condition for use during the winter and bedding for the homes that were entirely demolished.

Many of the farmers lost everything they had except their land, practically nothing. If some of their neighbors would organize, would bring teams and devote a day or two in aiding these unfortunate in putting things in shape for winter, it would be even more needed than a cash donation.

On the Egger farm in the town of Plymouth, last Saturday, an illustration of what can be done in this way was illustrated. Neighbors came from miles around and worked all day making the house habitable, putting up the tobacco shed, fixing the barns and sheds and otherwise adding the unfortunate farmer to get into some sort of shape for winter.

Not only did they do that but they also raised three hundred dollars in cash and bought lumber and materials for the house, buildings and repairs.
Feed for the stock is also needed. In some places the windmills are down and there is no way to obtain water for the cattle and other stock.

In this connection the offer made by the Baker Manufacturing company of Evanston, Ill., to donate a check for $115.00 for the relief fund they also make the statement that they will allow a discount of five dollars in replacing windmills, gasoline engines and other materials bought of them where it amounts to sixty-five dollars.

The money continues to come to the county relief fund by every mail. The list grows rapidly but there is need for every cent donated and considerable more. All those who have sent in their names and donations are requested to follow the same with their checks at once so the money will be available for immediate use.

The following is the detailed report of the relief committee that visited the vicinity near Milton last week and the conditions they found to exist there:

SUPPLIES BROUGHT
TO THE DEPOT IN LARGE QUANTITIESLarge Amount of Clothing and Other Goods Received for Storm Sufferers—Several Calls for Aid.

Although the supply depot has been established but several days, there has been a large amount of goods of all kinds received for the aid of the storm sufferers. F. S. Winslow and Alderman Hall who are in charge of the receiving of the articles at the West-wick building on Court street, were kept busy today arranging the clothing on long counters which were constructed this morning. All the wearing apparel is displayed in this manner so that it will be possible to select what is needed in the shortest possible time.

Telephone calls are frequent and several wagons are kept busy hauling the goods to the depot. Aside from a large amount of clothing there has been a large number of pieces of household furniture received. These include beds, tables and chairs, while several mattresses are among the supplies on hand.

There were three parties who called at the supply depot Saturday and were fitted out with what was needed.
Others are expected during the outgoing week. It was suggested this morning that the farmers in the vicinity of the storm stricken region aid in the distribution as it is impossible to send out notes from the city this week. Many of the persons in need of help have no means of getting to the city and consequently all in the distribution of the large amount of supplies collected here is needed at present.

Bedding is undoubtedly the article which will be most in demand and while there has been a large amount brought in, it is estimated that more will be needed. However, until a larger number of calls have been received for the goods on hand, it cannot be exactly estimated what articles are wanted most.

The most pressing need just at present is for warm shoes, mittens, gloves and infants' clothing as well as bedding, quilts and blankets. There is enough of the other clothing already supplied to meet any pressing needs but a lack of furniture.

in an uptown apartment house. The girls declared at the time that Stokes was endeavoring to recover a number of letters he had written to Miss Graham and that the shooting followed his attempt to take them by force.

Stokes, on the other hand, maintained that Miss Graham and her friend endeavored to make him the victim of a blackmail plot and that he was deliberately shot when he refused to sign a check for $25,000.

legislature after a series of public hearings in which the opposition was discussed at length by both sides.

The state board of control will meet

SOUSA'S MUSIC WAS DELIGHT TO MANY

Noted Band Master and His Musicians Here Last Saturday Evening—Pleasing Concert.

It is unfortunate that when a band master like John Philip Sousa and his aggregation of excellent musicians come to Janesville the size of the audience that greets them is no measure as to be most disappointing to the theater manager and the musicians themselves.

Last Saturday evening Sousa and his band appeared at the Myers Theater. Accompanying this organization were Miss Virginia Root, soprano; Miss Nicoline Redder, violinist; and Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist. The program consisted of nine excellent numbers and for the frequent encore the most popular of Sousa's own compositions were rendered. It was a most excellent program throughout and one enjoyed by all who attended.

HIGH SCHOOL GIVEN TUBERCULOSIS TALK

Dr. Williams Gives Students Interesting and Instructive Talk on Dread Disease.

Dr. Maud Williams of Milwaukee, a representative of the Wisconsin State Anti-Tuberculosis Society, addressed the students of the high school this morning on the subject of tuberculosis. She will be in this city for at least a month and will endeavor to interest the local citizens in the prevention of the dread disease.

In opening her address she called attention to the number of deaths caused by the recent tornado, and to the great movement of relief which has followed, yet in Rock county during the past year, fifty people died of the terrible disease, tuberculosis, and no steps have been taken to aid in the prevention or cure of the disease. In the state of Wisconsin 2,485 people died of the disease during the past year. In the United States, between 100,000 and 150,000 people died of this same disease last year. In the United States, one person is stricken with the disease every four minutes, and in the whole world, one is laid low every second.

This disease is two thousand years old, and not until in the year 1882 was its cause discovered. The bacteria which cause it cannot live in a moist air and so nature has provided them people in the city were forced to give up all plans for parties and hockey games which were so popular a few years ago when there was excellent weather for that purpose.

STETHOSCOPE IS VERY HANDY

Placed Against Parts of Machine Sound Will Tell If Anything Amiss With Machinery.

A sort of stethoscope for the use of engineers for the detection of loose follower bolts, broken snap rings, leaking pistons, etc., is suggested and described by a contributor to Power and the Engineer. The illustration shows its general arrangement. A small tube B is soldered to the diaphragm of the transmitter, and a small rod A supported by a spiral spring C is fitted in the tube and projects at the end of the transmitter. Tube connections at the outside of the transmitter and of the two receivers and connections of 3/4-inch rubber tubing complete the apparatus. When the rod is placed against the cylinder, water pipe or other parts of the machine and the receivers to the ears, the sound will tell the engineer whether anything is amiss with his machinery.

Engineers' Stethoscope.

Modern Wooden Sailing Ship.

There is a general idea that the wooden sailing ship is a thing of the past, but there recently landed at Baltimore for its maiden voyage a wooden vessel that far outtranks any that ever put to sea. This is a six masted schooner called the Wyoming, and is a splendid ship in every particular, with a gross register of 2,730 tons, or twenty-two tons more than the well-known steel hull six-masted schooner William L. Douglas of Boston. The Wyoming is 325 feet 2 inches long, 50 feet 1 inch beam, and 50 feet 4 inches depth of hold. It has three decks, with five discharging hatches, and took as its first cargo 6,322 tons of soft coal for Boston.

The frame of the huge schooner is securely strapped with iron and its keelson is protected with big bands of sheet iron. Telephones, steam pumps, steam hoists, etc., make the vessel up to date in every particular. The vessel cost $190,000 to build.

Composition of Putty.

Putty is composed of dry whiting and raw linseed oil. For glazing, add about 10 per cent. of white lead to increase durability. In hot climates a little cotton-seed oil should be added to prevent the putty from drying too quickly.

Nagoya, Japan, produces about 500,000 worth of clocks annually. Tokyo comes next with an output of $250,000. Japan's exports of clocks amount to about $350,000 a year.

IMMENSE CROWDS AT CLEVELAND, OHIO

New Tonic "Tona Vita" Brings Throngs to Physicians in Charge.

The physicians who have charge of the introduction in Cleveland of the remarkable new tonic, called "Tona Vita," have been unable to handle the immense crowds who have flocked to see them during the past week. "We expect to meet 50,000 people before we leave Cleveland," said one of these physicians recently.

"Any man or woman in Cleveland who is a victim of nervous debility is making a grave mistake if they do not try this medicine. The symptoms of nervous debility are often mistaken for something else, stomach trouble, as a rule, but there is no mistaking those who understand it. The following symptoms are characteristic of this trouble: Lacking of spirits, little vitality, cold feet, headache, stomach and bowel trouble, weak back with dull pain at the base of the spine. These are all unmistakable symptoms of nervous debility, and there are thousands of people who are so afflicted.

"Tona Vita" will act in such cases like a true specific; from the first moment the medicine is taken, improvement is rapid. A dozen people who started taking the tonic last week told me today that they are like different individuals. One woman told me she had not had a happy moment for four years until the past few days. She stated that she used to sing, but had been so depressed in spirits that she had not done so for several years. She stated that she had been singing while attempting to her household duties during the past few days as she had not done since she was a girl.

"A trial is all that is necessary to prove to an individual suffering from nervous debility that this woman had good cause for singing. Eliminating debility from the system is like lifting a weight from the heart and a cloud from the brain."

Smith Drug Co. have secured the agency for "Tona Vita" in Janesville and the remarkable tonic is now for sale at their store.

The farmer had bought a pair of shoes in the city shop. "Now, can't I sell you a pair of shoes?" suggested the clerk. FRENCH CHALK WILL DO IT

That is the Best Thing to Remove Spots Made by Cream or Other Food.

A woman who had a pitcher of cream spilled over a blue crepe dress she was wearing for the first time started to wash off the spots with cold water.

"Don't do it," said a friend. "It will ruin your gown. When you get home cover it thickly with French chalk for three or four days, brush off, and if any signs of the grease remain put heavy brown paper over it and press with a hot iron." The advice removed the cream.

One woman carries French chalk for such emergencies as food spots. A little of the chalk is rubbed in at once, as it removes the spot more quickly when fresh.

If gasoline or other cleansing fluid is used on a material that will "ring," put a heavy white blotter under the spot, or if that is not at hand use a Turkish towel. Rub in a circle until the dampness is evaporated.

and as a result of your canvass you found one concern far in advance of all others—a firm which used the choicest milk from the best dairies, only—

and where, in a model plant, as clean as your own kitchen, they subjected this "best milk" to a most rigid process of "Perfect Pasteurization," then bottled it in clean, sterilized bottles, and sealed it automatically and delivered it to your home every day—the milk at no time exposed to human touch or exposure—would not such milk be the one you would use in your household—and recommend to your friends?

THRILLING RACE WITH DEATH

Record-Breaking Run Made by New York Central to Scene of Wreck.

A railroad race with death that takes rank with the best performances ever made occurred several years ago, when Dr. W. Meyer and two nurses started from New York in a record-breaking run to the scene of a wreck on the New York Central near Lyons, N. Y., in which Mrs. Newman Erb, wife of the vice president of the Pere Marquette railroad, had been seriously injured.

Accompanied by Mr. Erb's son-in-law and his wife, the physician and nurses left the metropolis on a special, composed of the fastest engine available, three day coaches and a private car. The special was ordered at 7 o'clock in the morning, when the news of the disaster arrived, and pulled out at 7:50. It was given a clear track and whirled up the Hudson at the rate of a mile a minute.

At Albany Dr. Meyer appealed to the engineer and Conductor William Lewis for more speed, and from Albany to Syracuse all records were broken, the distance to the latter city from New York being made in four and one-half hours. After a quick change of engines, the train hurried on to Rochester, the eighty-one intervening miles being covered in seventy-four minutes. The run was all the more remarkable in view of the fact that the engineer was compelled to slow down six successive times.

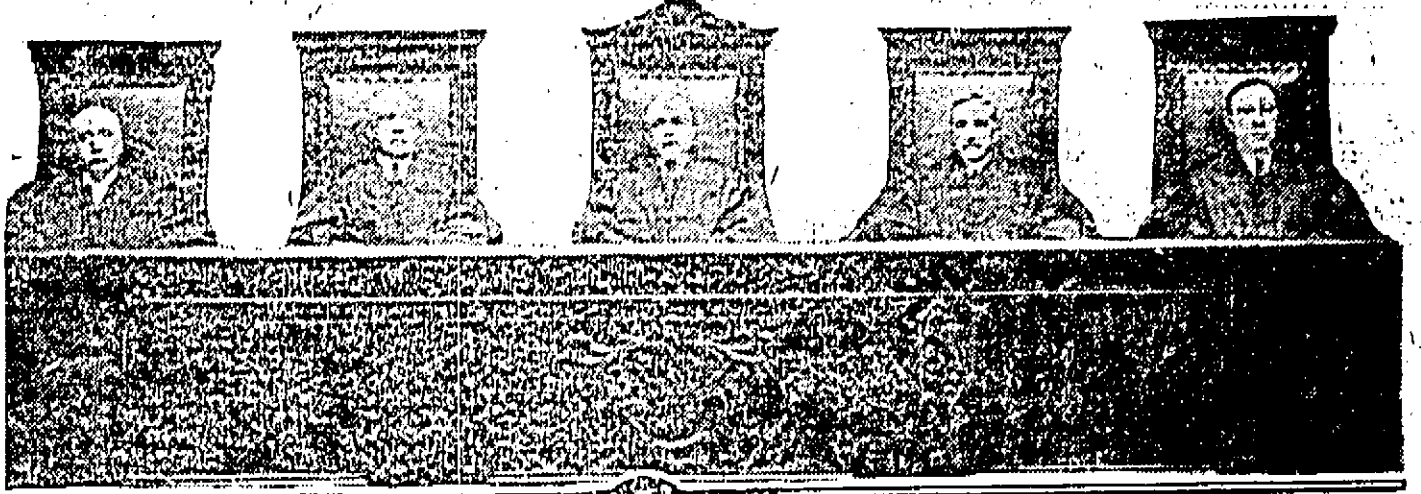

The special covered the 373 miles from New York to Rochester in 344 minutes, breaking the record of the Empire State Express by one hour, but death had beaten the flying train by twenty minutes, and Mrs. Erb had succumbed to her injuries. The race was the best piece of record work in the history of the New York Central to that date.

TRAMP WHO CALLED AID WHEN CYCLONE STRUCK, IN REPORT

Only Person Who Survived Cyclone at Schmidt Farm Tells His Experience.

James Lowery, the tramp who was at the Schmidt home at the time the cyclone struck there a week ago, and who was the sole survivor at that place after the storm passed, was in the city yesterday and spent last night at the police station. Instead of being a tramp he is an ordinary farm hand that was near this place close to the town of Burlington, in Lafayette county. He is a man of fifty-one years of age and has spent the most of his life in this section of the state.

He owes that he was saved from death to the fact that as the barn was demolished he fell between two of the large silos and that the rest of the wreckage fell on these and could not reach him. It was he that hurried to Hanover after he had gotten himself clear of the debris that he was under and gave the alarm.

Since that time he has been at the home of a farmer near Hanover working for his board and left there yesterday and walked to the city during the day. He visited the Gazette office and with his clothes he needed from the roller laundry, gave the following account of his experiences:

"On the day of the storm I had been at the home of the Austin brothers, two miles and a half west of Janesville and had left there about half past eight in the morning. I had been there getting a job husking corn but had a sore hand and was unable to work and so left there and started towards Hanover where I expected to find a place to work for my board until my finger got well. About one o'clock I reached the Schmidt home and stopped there to escape the rain. It had been raining a few minutes at that time. Reaching the Schmidt home I took refuge in the barn. I tried one of the doors and saw the man of the house motioning to me to try the other door, the one I was at being locked. As soon as I entered the barn the father and the son followed me. They treated me very nicely and were talking about the weather and crops when they noticed that the storm was increasing. It was raining hard and the wind was raising.

"We stood talking ten minutes and then I noticed that the father was gone and I heard him holler, and asked the boy where he was, and he said he was upstairs trying to shut the door. He says he is hollerin' to come and help him and I said perhaps I had better go too, and he says all right. He started up the ladder and I had to wait until he got out of the way and then the last I remember, after I regained consciousness I didn't know where I was and could not move. After my senses cleared a trifle I found that I was lying between two of the large barn silos and sprawling around found that I could see the light at my feet and crawled out of the wreckage backwards.

"After I got out I was lost; I didn't know what had happened. The house and buildings were all gone. I was raining. I had lost my coat and hat and so started at once and hurried to Hanover. Reaching there I went to the depot. There was five or six men there and I told them that the house was all down up there. I couldn't see any of them and that the house and barn were gone. The men went with me to the store and said that they would give me some dry clothes. He would give me nothing and I slept in the same wet clothes all night. That night I slept in a barn in Hanover. I did not go back to the Schmidt home.

"The next day I went out to find a place to stay. I couldn't work and wanted a place to earn my board. I wandered around and reached a man by the name of Mathewson. I stayed there for three or four days and have been walking here since."

THIEVES BREAK INTO LOWELL HARDWARE STORE

Place Entered Second Time Within Two Months—Nothing Secured By Burglars—Amateurs Suspected.

Thieves broke into the E. W. Lowell hardware store, 111 Milwaukee St., on Friday night. The attempted robbery was not discovered until a day later when the heavy wire net which protects a rear window was found torn out and a pane of glass removed. The window opened on the elevator shaft and from this the burglars could only gain access to the basement and tinshop. Men who were working in the tinshop Friday evening heard a noise in the shaft at about eight o'clock and one called down to find out cause. Nothing had been found to have been taken from the store was broken into, an entrance being forced through the back door.

Two revolvers were stolen. It is thought that both attempts at burglary were made by the same parties and that they were the work of amateurs.

ARCHIE REID GETS BARGAIN AWARD

Archie Reid and Company, With Blanket Offer, Got Decision of Committee Last Week.

Archie Reid and Company, with the splendid offer of blankets, worth $2, at $1, were awarded first place on the Gazette's Best Bargain page last week, by a committee consisting of three ladies from the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church. The blankets were everything that was said for them in the ad, and appended to the ladies as the one best bargain in the city, for that day.

Never was the page more full of good things at startling low prices and the bargain that won the award must necessarily have been a good one. The task for the committee this week, which consists of three ladies from the Catholic Order of Foresters, promises to be equally as hard as to judge of the best bargain in the good ones are pouring in fast and the page is a splendid index to the money saving chances for Tuesday.

The popularity of the Bargain page is growing every week and more and more people are availing themselves of the advantages offered there than ever before.

ANCHOR ICE CAUSES TROUBLE ON RIVER

Plants at Indian Ford and Janesville All Stopped—Lights Out and Cars Stopped Saturday Night.

From eight o'clock Saturday night until Sunday morning ice blocked the water wheels of both of the Electric Light company's power houses, causing the street cars and are lights all over the city to be put out of commission, besides a few private houses in the Second ward. Some little current was received from the Edgerton plant and with the aid of the engine in the Fourth avenue station the lights for the stores were kept going and most of the residence district lines were kept in operation.

Saturday morning the Indian Ford dam was blocked by floating ice until the power house had to shut down for a short time and was not able to start up again until this Jan broke. The upper plant here was kept in operation for a long time after the ice began to form by the use of rakes, but it became blocked up finally. The Monterey dam was blocked with floating ice and owing to the fact that the engine in that place is not kept steamed up it could not be used. This is the first time since it was formed that the company has had both power-houses out of commission at one time.

Anchor ice is the technical name for ice which forms in water having a current and floats beneath the surface, often in small pieces. This ice got between the bars of the grating which protects the turbines and soon froze them solid, preventing the water from going through and also blocked up the wheels themselves in the same manner. The ice also piled up on the dam Sunday morning and raised the water behind it about two feet higher than it was before. This broke out after a while and let the pressure down, but at one time the water was running over the dam over three feet deep.

WILL SELECT TEAMS FOR BELOIT DEBATE

Preliminaries to Secure Two Teams to Debate Beloit Will Be Held at High School Thursday.

Two debating teams will be selected Thursday afternoon to represent the Janesville high school in their contest with Beloit high school the early part of December. This was announced by Prof. H. C. Buell at a conference held with students who have signified their intentions of trying for a position on one of the teams.

He announced today that it had been decided to hold two debates instead of one, each school supporting both the affirmative and negative sides of the argument. This will allow the holding of two debates which will be scheduled for the same evening—one at Janesville and the other at Beloit.

It has been decided by the Beloit management to hold double debates for all of the members of the league in Illinois and Wisconsin in order to secure the most benefit for the largest number.

BOOST ATTENDANCE AT SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Ministers and Y. M. C. A. Committee Consider Methods of Interesting Evansville Boys in Sunday Schools.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Evansville, Nov. 20.—Sunday afternoon the official board of the Y. M. C. A. and all the ministers of the city met in the association rooms to discuss ways of getting more boys interested in Sunday school and Y. M. C. A. work. It was found that there are thirty boys who do not belong to any Sunday school in the city. It was voted that a committee of two boys from each Sunday school be appointed to meet with the official board of the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans of getting the boys interested in some kind of a contest to gain a trophy. Their credits for being present at Sunday school will permit them to become members of different athletic teams and participate in amusements furnished by the "Y."

Chicago and Northwestern. Two extras were ordered out this morning. Engineer Padden and Fireman Newton with engine 1336 went to Chicago, and Engineer Dille and Fireman Korat were ordered to Fond du Lac with engine 1328. Smith and Coen were on the night dispatching job last night. Engineer Wilke and Fireman Barker took train 584 to Chicago this morning at 9:45. Engineer Hilde and Fireman Cutler, with train 580, got on their way to Chicago this morning at 11:55. Switchmen Lightizer, Dullin and Garry obtained leave of absence yesterday. Switchmen Erdmann and Burns are on the half and half today. A. L. Fisher, traveling passenger agent for the Northwestern road, on the Wisconsin division, is transacting company business here today. Will Not Change Engine Here. Train 518, due here at 10:35, which for the past summer has changed engines here, has discontinued that practice and this morning was the first time that the train went on to Chicago without making the change. Engine 1447, which was left here, is now taken through to Chicago, and stays in the house there, instead of here, as formerly. Sugar Beets Plentiful. All the available side-tracks in the city of Jansville and the surrounding towns, are filled with car after car of sugar beets consigned to the factory here. The factory cannot manage to unload the cars fast enough and every train arriving, that carries freight from points north and east of Jansville, brings large shipments of the valuable product.

Issues Warning. On the pay checks that the switchmen received recently was a warning sent out by H. C. Richards, chairman of the Central Safety Committee, which read as follows: "During the last nine months injuries to trainmen have decreased forty per cent. Why cannot switchmen do as well, instead of showing a decrease of twenty per cent? It is up to you to make it forty and prevent injury to yourself and fellow workers."

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Station Ticket Agent Floyd Davis states that there were over one hundred and fifty tickets sold yesterday for Hanover. Evidently the interest caused by the terrible storm of the 11th inst., will tend to put the neighboring town on the map.

Why Goethe Can't Be Translated. The reason why Goethe cannot be translated is that no equal of Goethe stands on the English side of the line to link the equivalent words with equivalent music. The process of rendering Goethe or Herger into another tongue is what a German, not over familiar with our phrases, uses to describe translation; he says such a German book has been "upset into English."—T. Starr King's Essay on Books and Reading.

Starve to Gain Weight. The fat one who has been cut out of meals galore will now rejoice. The last cure for thinness is to eat every other dinner. A man under such treatment by advice of an up-to-date physician has gained at the rate of two pounds a week. With Parisian specialists advising five meals a day for obesity it sounds as if the doctors liked change as much as the model-makers.

Oldley's Generosity. "Did the Oldleys have much trouble in arranging their separation?" "No. At least, not until they reached the child. They have but one child, you know." "How about the dogs?" "That was easy. They had two dogs." "I see. Well, what did they do?" "Why, Oldley suddenly developed a streak of generosity. He took the child and let his wife have both dogs."

Modesty. A modest person seldom falls to gain the goodwill of those he converses with, because nobody envies a man who does not appear to be pleased with himself.—Steels.

Would Try Again. Most everybody wishes he could live his life over again, but few would live much better.—Hibcock.

The Motor Veil

Mrs. Chas. Atkinson is entertaining her mother, Mrs. John Masters, of Milton Junction, for a week-end visit. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fisher, Mr. Chas. Cleland and Miss Jennie Cleland, all of Jansville, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Allen and son, Malcolm, and Laura Hill, returned from an over Sunday visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hille in Madison. Director Atkinson escorted fourteen boys of the Junior class of the Y. M. C. A. to Hanover Saturday morning to view the cyclone district. This treat was given the boys instead of the usual Saturday forenoon's practice. From Hanover they went to Jansville, visiting the Junior department of the Y. M. C. A. there, returning home at noon. The boys report a very fine and interesting trip. Mrs. N. P. Shawson has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Sagerton.

"What a beautiful scarf, Nell!" remarked Laura as her friend untied her motor veil and settled beside her on the shady side of the porch. "I never saw one just like it." "I don't believe there's one like it this side of Europe," returned the visitor. "My aunt brought it to me from Paris last month and I think a great deal of it." Further, the associations that have gathered around it since I got it make it doubly precious."

"That sounds like romance. Go on with the story."

"Well, to begin at the beginning, the first time I ever wore it was one night when Jack came along to take me out in his new runabout. When we got to the park we went into the refreshery and I removed my veil and Jack said he would put it in the pocket of his light overcoat, which hung on the rack behind our table. I never thought of that veil again until the next evening, when Jack came around to take me out for another little ride."

"You must have been very much engrossed."

"Well," Nell dimpled rosy, "Jack and I had been having quite a discussion, and of course I didn't think of my veil, and when I asked him for it he thrust his hand into his motor coat and brought it out empty. 'Why,' he said, 'I must have taken it out in my room. I'll bring it next time.'"

"I was decidedly surprised when he appeared two evenings later without it."

"You must think me unparadoxically careless not to have brought it," he said.

"Of course I told him it didn't matter in the least. But just fancy how I felt the next day when I saw Alice Randall jump out of an automobile and run into a house directly across the street from ours with my veil tied over her hat! Why, Laura, for a moment I was in a perfect rage. I remembered distinctly how much Jack used to see of Miss Randall before—well, I made up my mind that in some way she had inveigled Jack to let her take that veil and that she had worn it into our neighborhood just to annoy me."

"When Jack called that evening, I left the porch as his car was drawing up to the curb. Then I instructed our maid to tell him I was out. In about a minute she brought me a card on which he had written: 'What is the matter? I must see you.' I knew Jack well enough to be certain that if he intended to see me he would wait all night if necessary, and I thought I might as well go down first as last."

"'What did you do with my scarf?' I asked."

"'I don't know,' he answered. 'I wish I did, but surely you won't let a mere bit of veiling come between us!'"

"I thought a great deal of that more bit of veiling," I answered.

"I know you did, and I've tried everywhere to find it or buy you another. I've advertised it and I've searched for one like it in every shop without any luck. I may as well own up at last that in some unaccountable way I've lost it."

"Lost it! How does it happen that your old friend, Miss Alice Randall, happens to be wearing it?"

"Great Scott! Is she wearing it?"

"Where did she get it?"

"That's a question you can answer better than I," I returned.

"Well, I'll find out," he said. "I've known Alice all my life, and I'm not afraid to ask her a simple question."

"He ran out and jumped into his machine and in less than 20 minutes he was back again with the scarf in his hand. He came up on the dusky porch and actually handed me with it, saying gaily: 'Nell, own up! You were jealous, weren't you?'"

"Of course I declared that I wasn't and he—well, after a little while he told me that Alice's sister found the veil in her husband's overcoat pocket after he had been out in the park one night in a car with some man friends. It vexed her so because he wouldn't tell her how he came by it that she couldn't bear to have it around, so she gave it to Alice. Jack laughed and said that that veil came pretty nearly wrecking two families."

"Two families? Nell, have you and Jack at last—"

"Do you suppose I would have told you this story if I hadn't been in need of a maid of honor?"

Honor for Captain Cook. Captain Cook was really the first navigator of the Pacific ocean. Others had discovered it centuries before, but he was the first to put those discoveries to practical use, and his explorations served as a basis for the first accurate maps of that great ocean. He found that there was no vast continent stretching from near the shores of Asia to the antarctic pole, as Europe had always thought. He was the first to sail around New Zealand, and he gave New South Wales its name. He is at last to have a fitting memorial of his services to England and the world. This memorial will take the form of a statue to be designed by Sir Thomas Brock, the sculptor who did the Victoria memorial, and will have a place in London near the Admiralty arch in the Mall.

How to Be Immortal. Only one-cell animals which have no differentiation are immortal and never grow old. Physical, immortality, deathless youth is possible, but you must be an infusorian or a yeast plant to attain it, and one wouldn't even be a clam or a jellyfish for the price. The process has no limits any more than it has beginnings. Life is just that, one-third dying that two-thirds may live, whether it be the single cell or the body.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Hampton.

BALLOT BOX FLOODED WITH VOTES

CAMPAIGN ENTERING ON FOURTH WEEK—STILL TIME FOR ANY CANDIDATE TO TAKE THE LEAD.

NOTICE.

On account of the rush of business in the campaign department Saturday, the campaign manager was unable to make the regular count of ballots. The regular count was resumed this morning at 9 o'clock.

The nomination blanks were withdrawn today and all must be in the ballot box by 8 p. m. Thursday, or bear the post mark of Nov. 23.

There are those who think that the prizes given by a newspaper in a campaign of this character are cheap. That depends. The Gazette has purchased the best it could buy in the grades it is possible to give away in this prize campaign.

The Overland touring car is known as a standard all over the country. Ask an owner of an Overland and he will tell you.

The Overland car to be awarded is on display at the Rink where the manufacturers' exhibit is being held this week.

The three Schiller pianos are valued at $340 each and were purchased from A. V. Lytle, of New York, where they may be inspected at any time. If you are interested call on the firm and they will be only too glad to show them.

The scholarships to be given away will entitle the winners of the third prizes to a 28-week course in the Janesville or Hollet Business schools that need no introduction in this section, and a school of a fine reputation.

The diamonds and watches which are given as second and fourth prizes in each district were purchased of Hall & Styles and G. W. Grant & Co., of this city. The diamonds are perfect white stones and each valued at $80. The watches are 15 jewel Elgin movement encased in solid gold and are watches that any lady might feel proud to own.

To the people who imagine these prizes are cheap, because they are given away, are mistaken. The dealers are being more particular with these prizes because they will be tested harder than those sold regularly.

The ladies working for these prizes may rest assured that they are backed by the guarantee of the dealers who are local people, well known, and they may rest assured that they are the best that money could buy so far as this paper is concerned.

Holding being the best, the value of these prizes cannot be duplicated for less than two thousand five hundred dollars, making this the greatest list of prizes ever given away by any newspaper in this state. In fact it is only another demonstration that the Gazette is a leader that leads all competitors in every department of newspaper enterprise.

Opportunity Equal.
A single glance at the standing of the candidates will convince anyone that there is not a lady who has yet secured such a loan as would entitle her to the ballot that the campaign was over as far as she was concerned. There is no lady who has as yet placed herself in a position from which she may rest and look down upon the others. Any one of these ladies near the bottom of the list might by securing a few yearly subscriptions put herself at the top.

When candidates send subscriptions by mail, they will receive in return a ballot of votes to cover each subscription, also a receipt. Candidates are to retain the yellow receipt, but when they want their stand in the paper increased they are to return the white ballot of votes and their standing will be increased according to the number of votes sent. Remember the white ballots may be voted any time up to December 23, and each will count for the amount written on it.

Future Orders.
Don't give up a party as a subscriber, city or country, simply because he is taking some other paper and paid in advance for it. Take his subscription to The Gazette and when his subscription expires on the other paper he will begin to receive The Gazette, Weekly Gazette.

Any subscriber now taking the Weekly Gazette may by paying up their arrears on the weekly state. The Daily Gazette and all such subscriptions will be closed as New Daily subscribers and votes issued accordingly.

Subscription Books.
Candidates and their friends are privileged to accept payments on subscriptions and in order that they may receipt for such payments we will provide them with a receipt book if they will inform the campaign department.

Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who can not call during regular office hours, the campaign department will remain open until 8 p. m. each week day evening.

Rewarded the Dog, at Least.

Said the vacationist who had returned in a cynical mood.

"Up in the country where I rusticated for two weeks the nine-year-old son and the ten-year-old dog of a widow who did washing for hotel guests saved a rich little girl from drowning. The boy had on his nice little sailor suit, which his mother had raked and scraped for months to get, and of course it was spoiled. But the little girl's mother said, 'Oh, the dear boy, the dear dog!' and everybody took it that she meant to do something for them. She did, in her way. When she got back to New York she sent the dog a handsomely engraved collar, but the boy is still struggling along in his shrunken, spotted sailor suit."

Jews and Suicide.

The Jewish World of London notes that a proportionately greater number of suicides occur among the Jews in England and in America than in the countries in which the race meets with the harshest treatment. This is said to be due to the fact that the Orthodox Jews of European countries look upon self destruction as a crime no less abhorrent than is murder, whilst many Anglicized Jews are more lax in their adherence to the teachings of their fathers.

"Fifty Lucra" in Truth.

The English system is to destroy all bills returning to the Bank of England, no matter how brief has been their life in circulation. In this manner they keep their money reasonably clean, but in this country we keep it in circulation "fifty lucra" in tatters and incriminated with the "keds" only know what.

Requirements of Tragedy.

The clearest and most succinct declaration of the dramatic unities was made by Holbein, when he laid down the law that a tragedy must show "one action in one day and in one place." It must deal with only a single story; and this obligation is the unity of action. It must never change the scene, massing all its episodes in a single spot; and this is the unity of place. And it must compact its successive situations into the space of 24 hours, into a single day, and this is the unity of time.—Atlantic.

Immensity of the Oceans.

If all the oceans were suddenly dried up, and the rivers could maintain their present rate of flow, it would take 3,500 years to refill the basin.

Cultivate Laughter.

Laughter is the salt of life; and facetiousness and humor, if naturalized and retailed, would be worth many dollars a box.

THE (42) BEST BARGAINS FROM OUR (42) BUSIEST STORES

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reporter and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most to-day and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking itself and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargains."

42 Merchants Have Responded—some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

The most interesting reading of any page in today's paper

ARCHIE REID & CO.

Offering a special number in blankets at $1.00 each were awarded "Best Bargain" by the committee of ladies from the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church last week. There is no doubt but what it was a good bargain and worth $2.00 as stated in their ad.

Was this the bargain you decided was best last week?

Did you read and respond to that bargain page—you certainly missed the most interesting reading in the paper if you happened to overlook it—But here is another—just as brimful of interest to you—read every special—perhaps the very item you need most is set forth here the most extraordinary offering on the page.

The committee this week will be three ladies from the Catholic Order of Foresters

REV. DAVID BEATON IN ANNUAL SERMON

SECOND ANNIVERSARY ADDRESS GIVEN SUNDAY MORNING BY CONGREGATIONAL PASTOR.

ON GENIUS OF CHURCH

Gave Powerful Exposition of the Genius and Work of Congregationalism Since its Founding.

Rev. David Beaton, pastor of the First Congregational church, in his second annual address to his congregation Sunday morning, gave a powerful sermon on the genius and work of Congregationalism. He took for his text Gal. 6:1, and spoke as follows:

"All peoples who have made their mark in history show a characteristic genius, or way of looking at life, and we can properly call this their peculiar work as the expression of their genius. The distinctive service performed by any race for humanity is not an accident of climate or natural resources alone, although these may play their part, but is the outcome of intellectual and moral traits bred by faith, idealism, convictions and the discipline of privation and struggle.
The genius of a race and people is essentially a spiritual quality.

"This is strikingly seen in the case of Greece, which stands for art and culture, Rome which stands for statemanship and military powers and Israel which stands for moral law and religious mysticism. And if we consider any one of these distinctive creations, such as a Greek statue or a Roman campaign, a Jewish prophecy, you will be able to recreate the whole life of the people, and their influence on history from these characteristic productions, as the anatomist re-creates the muscle from a fossil bone.

"In like manner churches have characteristic genius and work. What they are in spirit and at heart determines what they have done and can do for the welfare of mankind. The superficial thinker is in danger of regarding the divisions of Christianity, as Pope Leo X. regarded the mighty intellectual and moral upheaval of the Reformation as merely a 'Monk's quarrel.' But the truth is, they were the outcome of irreconcilable differences of race qualities and moral ideals of life. If they had been differences of creed or ritual merely, they would have burned out like last year's lava. But today they are as real in import as when they came into being from the heart of the race. This is the meaning of Saint Paul's words in our text, 'Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ has made you free, and be not entangled again in the yoke of bondage.' Just as a political party appeals to the first principles of its founders, so the religious teacher must again and again appeal to the truths which enfranchised our souls and emancipated the spirit of our race.

"It will be seen that every ritual denomination today has such a genius. The Greek and Roman communions with, perhaps the Anglican-Episcopal, represent the principle of authority in religion. Their system requires a supreme Patriarch, or Pon-tiff, or Archbishop; their method is the assertion of authority over the believer and ideals of the human soul.
These churches stand at the extreme of what are known as the communions of spiritual liberty and personal religious experience. The Methodist, the Presbyterian, the Christian Disciple, and the various bodies of Congregationalists, including Baptists, are on the other hand, representatives of personal freedom according to the organization is more or less highly organized. But there is one characteristic not common to all of them, they are emancipated of external, alien ecclesiastical authority. Such authority as they own, they elect by virtue of their individual voluntary obedience.
It is not imposed from without—it is surrounded by the believer in obedience to the spiritual law within. It is an instance of a spiritual democracy which declares that the rulers, or rather leaders, of the church derive their authority from the consent of the governed. On the other hand, the churches where genius is 'authority' are survivals of the dark ages, characterized by the doctrine of the Divine Right of Kings. Our age knows no divine right of kings or priests, and to try to drive men into the kingdom by threatening them with 'Hell and Damnation' is utterly alien from our spirit and genius. In our opinion, a soul so threatened is violated in its inherent rights as a child of God and under grace.

"It is long since church historians of all schools, like Dr. Hatch of Oxford have acknowledged that the early Christian communities were Congregational in form and practice, and that our polity more nearly than any other approaches the simplicity, freedom, and purity of ideal of the New Testament. And this historical testimony is amply vindicated by the experience of missionaries in new communities at home and abroad. Moreover,

ecclesiastical pressure, or alien influence, is absent in the formation of a new church, and the people are left to vote on their own polity, they naturally adopt a congregational form of order—in fact, the use of the people's vote makes it so. It is no assumption of superiority, but simply the historical fact, to say that the genius of Congregationalism is the freedom of the individual human soul. Freedom of thought, of activity, of moral ideals and that of ritual observances. Indeed, this is but to repeat in other words the character of our Christian emancipation from the past and the priestly authority of a lower form of religious thought and practice in the past. For, if Christianity had not given us this spiritual emancipation, it would itself be but another form of mental bondage over the human soul.

"But it must not be inferred from this that freedom means insubordination, or lawlessness; it is rather the voluntary acceptance of a nobler and severer bond of obligation. It is really submission to a higher law—the law of an inward moral and spiritual compulsion substituted for the law of fear and superstition imposed by priestly authority. We are free, but only to be the slaves of Christ and our fellowmen. We are free, but free only to do good, to serve the needy, to teach the ignorant, to heal the sick, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked. We are emancipated from an external authority, but indured to the spirit of God.

"This feature is nobly illustrated in our Congregational services to the world. What are these? They are distinctive and preeminent both in America and the missionary field.
First of all, and never to be forgotten in America, Congregationalism gave the United States its democratic form of local government. In the town meeting, copied bodily from our local individual church meeting. This is the principle of local government which balances the federal principle, and keeps alive our civil liberty as well as our religious freedom.

"Second, we gave the nation its most characteristic institutions, like Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Williams, Oberlin and Beloit, for our Puritan and Pilgrim fathers carried the school house in one hand and the Bible in the other when they came to our shores.
If our common schools and our educational system are the glory of our nation, as they are, undoubtedly, we Congregationalists have done more to mould them as nurturing mothers of American citizenship than any others.
And we did so not as church schools, but as denominational adjuncts, not to spread our creed or aim, but to train children for Christian American citizenship, an ideal which we are proud and happy to say has become the fundamental political law of our country in the separation of church and state. And it will be a dark day for America when church rivalries are allowed to break down our noble system of public schools in the interest of the so-called parish schools whose aim is rather denominational propaganda than American manhood and patriotic citizenship.
Then, we have, in our great missionary work, especially the foreign work of the American board, done a characteristic service. This was outlined in the last missionary board established in America, and it was organized as an undenominational, so was the American Missionary society which works among the negroes, Indians and Chinamen.

"Now, this undenominational feature is characteristic of Congregationalism both in England and America.
We want to convert men for the Kingdom of God; we are not primarily concerned to make them Congregationalists, but Christians. And in Japan the great national movement for Christianity has taken this ideal and the Kumai churches are of this congregational order.

"I need not remind the public that the Young People's Endeavor Society was struck of the heart and brain of a Congregational minister; nor that the most remarkable revival movements under the leadership of such men as Jonathan Edwards, Finney, Lyman Beecher, and Moody, were Congregational in origin, and in the front rank of thought and social service today are the names of W. Lloyd Garrison, Clifford, Lyman Abbott and Graham Taylor.

"Our achievements are, indeed, the nobler fruits of the genius of freedom enthused with responsibility to God and man."

NO BETTER WAY TO BREAK A BAD COLD.

Surely cures the most severe cold and ends grip misery in just a few hours.

The most effective and harmless way to cure the Grippe or break a severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, is a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel the cold breaking and all grippe symptoms following after the very first dose. It promptly relieves the most miserable non-rational pain, headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, weakness, stiffness and rheumatic aching.

Take this harmless Compound un-directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery so promptly and without any other inconvenience or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

After three years' research we have conclusively demonstrated that quina-line is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

RECENT BIOGRAPHIES ADDED TO LIBRARY

Brief Reviews of New Volumes on Ruskin, Martin Luther, Baroness
von Suttner, and Alice Freeman Palmer.

The following is a list of some recent additions to the library. Two kind friends of the library have reviewed the books and the opinions are given below.

Reuskin, A. C. Ruskin: a study in personality.—The volume consists of seven lectures delivered in the Hall of Magdalene College, Cambridge, in 1910. The writer acknowledges that he has published these lectures with the hope of provoking a discriminating interest in Ruskin's life work, and the wish to present a picture of one of the most suggestive thinkers, the most beautiful writers, and the most vivid personalities of the late generation.

There are biographies of Ruskin, large and small, but none written with a fuller measure of understanding and sympathetic treatment.

Payne, Bjornstjerne Bjornson.—A short, lively biography elaborated from an essay published by the author in 1903 on the occasion of the great Norwegian's 70th birthday. With the many additions, anecdotes, translation and a review of Bjornson's later productions the story is brought down to the day of his death in Paris, April 26, 1910. To speak the name of Bjornson in any assembly of his countrymen is like "hoisting the Norwegian flag."

Memoirs of Bertha von Suttner.— Baroness von Suttner's name is linked with the story of the world wide movement in behalf of Peace. She has been identified with the cause since 1867 and her work covers the chief events in its history from that time to 1904, when she came to Boston to attend the 13th World Peace Congress. The baroness has been associated with many of the great men of our times—notably Alfred Nobel—whose peace prize she won in 1905. From thenceforth she has devoted her pen and finally all her energies to the cause of the world's peace. As a just contribution to the literature of the movement she has given her book "For the International School of Peace."

Palmer, G. L. Life of Alice Freeman Palmer.—An intimate personal record of the life of Mrs. Palmer, written by her husband. "A kind of character novel" the author calls it, "in which nobody appears except the heroine." An evolutionary study through which we follow the development of Mrs.
Palmer's career from university student to college president (Wellesley) and to further enlargement from special labor in a particular spot to general influence in the whole field of girls' education. Mrs. Palmer was the first dean of women in the Chicago University which identified her with our own educational interests. President Eliot says of her, "To my mind this career is unmatched by that of any other American woman. Mrs.
Palmer's life and labors are the best example thus far set before American womanhood."

Smith, Preserved: Life and Letters of Martin Luther.—This book is a fine example of fresh and vital biography.
The theme is a living one for the present day. As the author says, "the life of every man in Europe and America is different today from what it would have been had not Luther lived." Yet the book is not concerned with the merely religious side of the great reformer's life, but with the
man, the thinker, the reformer, the author and the husband, friend and father. Luther will go down to posterity with a book in his hand, the German Bible, the creator of its literature,
and of modern culture. He was an original and creative force in his
time as Copernicus, as Bacon, as Darwin, and as Emerson—one of the great souls which span the river of time and uphold the bridge of progress—of whom there are not more than a dozen others since Paul the Apostle. He reads like a drama of which the peasant soul was hero.

with the merely religious side of the
great reformer's life, but with the
man, the thinker, the reformer, the
author and the husband, friend and
father. Luther will go down to posterity with a book in his hand, the German Bible, the creator of its literature,
and of modern culture. He was an
original and creative force in his
time as Copernicus, as Bacon, as Dar-
win, and as Emerson—one of the
great souls which span the river of
time and uphold the bridge of progress—of whom there are not more
than a dozen others since Paul the Apostle. He reads like a drama of
which the peasant soul was hero.

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN, RECORD FOR DAYTON

Robert Dayton Left County Jail Saturday But Returned at Night to Stay Four Months for Stealing Mittens.

Released Saturday morning after serving a five days' term in the county jail for vagrancy, Robert Dayton returned before nightfall, this time for a sojourn of four months. Dayton received his sentence from Justice of the Peace A. A. Cleveland of Clinton where he was arrested for the theft of two pairs of mittens and property belonging to Wilbur & Son in that village.

A fine of $40 and costs or a total amount of $49, was too much for Dayton and consequently his future residence has been fixed for four months to come. It was stated by the officers who brought him to the jail Saturday afternoon, his domestic instincts re-belling at the thought of so long a period of confinement, attempted to escape.

Although he is a cripple and used a cane he jumped from the interior car just below Dubb's brewery but he was easily captured by his escort and arrived at the jail at five o'clock. His remonstrances, which were loud and vigorous, were of no avail.

Dayton was displaced early Saturday morning in company with two other prisoners who had served short terms. These two men had been working for the Northwestern road and apparently had several time checks and a small amount of money.
Dayton evidently thought it wise to stick to them and probably did so until he reached Clinton where he got into trouble.

BELOIT GIRL ARRESTED; SENT HOME THIS MORNING

Mamie Curtis, Seventeen Years Old,
Found in Bad Company by Police and Brought to Station.

Mamie Curtis, daughter of Parker, a seventeen year old girl from Beloit, was picked up by the police last night and kept at the station until this morning when she was sent home. She was found in very bad company and the police thought a girl of her tender years should be kept out of such evil associations. Mamie is an orphan, and a half-breed Indian. A woman came up from Beloit about two weeks ago and took her away from a local hotel where she had been working.
Chief Quilman of Beloit this morning, and after conferring with him decided to send the girl there.

NO CASCARET USER EVER HAS HEADACHE

A 10 cents box will keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh for months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, cramps, constipation, flatu-lence, heartburn, indigestion, loss of appetite, nervousness, all these troubles, delayed, tormenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach, poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartics, pills, oil and purgatives, force a passage way for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed matter, mucous and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means inside cleanliness and a clear head for business.

The Natural Thing.

"There," cried Jonathan to a new-arrived Irishman, as he waved his hand in the direction of the horse-shoe falls at Niagara; "there, now, isn't it wonderful?"

"Wonderful! What's wonderful about that?"

"Why, to see all that water come thundering over those rocks."

"Faith, then, to tell you the honest truth," was the response, "I can't see anything so wonderful about that. What is this to prevent it from coming over?"—Housekeeper.

Live and Learn.

Probably most of those poor children of London who are receiving the sea-water cure that is being talked about have never been to the seaside in their lives. There is a story told of a party of such who were given a day at a popular resort. When taken on to the beach the little scamps hastily throw off their clothes and rushed into the water for a frolic. One, who had never been by the sea before, got his mouth full of water. "Why," he exclaimed, as soon as he could, "some one's been throwing salt in!"—Tit-Bits.

How does you like watermelons, Slat'er Lize?"

"Wa-a-ll, Ah tells you, 'Sis' Jane," returned the other, "Ah certainly does love watermelons, but I can't eat 'em."

"Well, that am too bad. What am I to tell, Lize?"

"Wa-a-ll, that am like dis, 'Sis' Jane. I loves watermelons, but Ah always gets mah ears wet when Ah eats 'em."

Ancient Greek Market Place

The Italian Archaeological Mission in Crete has been making some remarkable and interesting excavations in that island. At Phaestus and Hagia Triada the excavations of the Minoan palace and the royal villa have been completed, with the discovery of new important parts of both buildings and that of the Minoan agora, the oldest market place ever found on Greek soil. At Labena, on the south coast of the island, the Graeco-Roman temple of Aesculapius with its surroundings was entirely unearthed, while new excavations have been carried on at Gortyna, near the Pythian temple and the Greek agora, and at Prinia, on the eastern slopes of Mount Ida. The excavations at Prinia have brought to light the remains of two archaic Greek shrines with very remarkable pieces of sculpture of the most primitive style.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 20, 1871.—A more thorough examination of the charred remains found under the Tribune building on Saturday, satisfies the friends of John McDevitt, the celebrated billiard player, that they are not his. Mr. Peck has been a resident of this city during the close of the war, during this time he has been engaged in the practice of law and in the loan and abstract business. He has also served one year as clerk of the court, besides delivering several Fourth of July orations in adjacent towns. On the whole, George is one of our most promising young men and we regret to lose him. He has a fine future in the prospect of a pleasant future in his contemplated home. Kansas needs young men of ability and enterprise, and we feel assured that Peck will make for himself a good name in that western country.

WHY SUN CHANGES IN SIZE

Varied Opinions Are Due to Fact That There is Nothing With Which to Compare It.

Ask ten people how large the sun looks to them when it is in mid-heaven, and you will get ten different opinions of its size, which range from a silver dollar to a cart wheel. The varied opinions are due to the fact that there is nothing with which to compare it when looked at by itself. Before any accurate estimate of its size can be made, we must have some known object with which to compare it.

Thus, when the sun is on the horizon and appears to be close to houses, trees and hills, it looks large. To some people it seems as large as a house or tree. Moreover, there are more persons who will agree that it appears to be a certain fixed size under this condition than will agree when it is viewed at the zenith. The diversity of opinion in the latter case results from an isolated object.

This has been proved by Prof. E. C. Landis, by projecting a narrow beam of light on a perfectly black, non-reflecting screen so placed that the observer could see nothing but the beam of light, and had no way of judging its distance from the screen. The observations of several persons under these conditions revealed the fact that there was no certainty about the length of the beam, the apparent length being estimated all the way from a few inches to several feet.

This being the case when the sun is in mid-heaven, how can its size be reduced to some uniform standard?

The most logical answer is found by representing it as a circle located at a fixed distance from the eye.

Confiding World.

That this is a confiding world is still proved by the sale of hair restoratives by bald-headed men, and the peddling of books on "How to Be Rich" by youthful peddlers working at $2 a day.

Sign of Sanity There.

If all folks who give evidence of indulging an "exaggerated ego" are to be confined in asylums, the business of constructing such institutions will become most extensive.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PAYSON TERNHUNE

TAMMANY.

Tammany—Indian war chief, sagamore, sachem and friend of the white man—is best remembered today by the society that bears his name. But he was famous a century before Tammany Hall was built.

Historians were few and amateur romancers were many in the Pennsylvania wilderness of olden times. So for one true story of the great Tammany there are 20 fanciful legends. And oftentimes it is hard to separate fact from fancy in telling of the old sagamore's career.

Tammany was ruler of the Delaware Indians early in the seventeenth century and was leader of the Lenape confederation of New York and Pennsylvania tribes which in those days waged eternal warfare against the force "Six Nations" and the savages who lived on and around Manhattan Island. He was a king, rather than a chief, and ruled his wide domain in Lenape, in various native dialects he is called Tamamond, Tomam, Tamment and Tammany. His huge "pallace-wigwam" is reported to have stood upon the site of Princeton college.

When William Penn and his fellow Quakers landed in Pennsylvania, with a charter to settle that region, it was Tammany, according to most accounts, who first greeted the great Englishman and who made him and his companions welcome guests of his "nation." Tammany it was who smoothed the way for the newcomers and induced the neighboring tribes to receive them peacefully. He is said to have been a party to Penn's celebrated treaty with the natives, and to have cemented so close a friendship between Quakers and red men that, while English-Indian wars were continuing in nearly all the other colonies, Pennsylvania was immune from bloodshed.

So mighty was Tammany and so deeply revered that his tribesmen in later years were wont to bestow his name upon any person on whom they wished to confer special honor. The Indians looked on him as a sort of god and would travel hundreds of miles to bring him their troubles for adjustment. It is probably to some of these worshippers, Indians rather than to any really authentic facts that we owe the following tale of Tammany's prowess.

ness, a story that used to be told and retold at a thousand native campfires.

The "Evil Spirit" (or some powerful and malicious Indian chief who became known by that name, because of his crimes) coveted the wealth and peace and easy life of Tammany's dominions, and sought to gain foothold there. Tammany knew that if the "Evil Spirit" should once establish a home in Pennsylvania the local Indians must give place to strife and sin. So he forbade the "Spirit" to set foot in the realm. The "Spirit" insisted, and Tammany had to use force to check his advance.

Battle With "Evil Spirit."

A long and terrible battle ensued, lasting several months and drenching the green forests red. At last Tammany overcame his foe and drove him forth in utter defeat. The "Evil Spirit" fled to Manhattan Island, where the godless natives received him enthusiastically and made him their ruler, hating him to remain among them forever.

The truth of the story—if truth there was—probably lay in a war between Tammany and some rival chief who was forced, by the Pennsylvania victory, to fly for safety to Manhattan. Tammany and his Delawareans hated Manhattan Island and its inhabitants. In the Delaware language Manhattan (or "Man-mattan-nink") means "a place of general drunkenness." It is thus the more peculiar coincidence that Manhattan Island should now be the spot where Tammany's name is enshrined.

The many reports of Tammany's wisdom, of his goodness to settlers, etc., led later admirers of him, in Revolutionary times, to refer to him as "St. Tammany," and to call him "the patron saint of America." His name was placed on some calendars and his festival celebrated on May 1. From "St. Tammany" a New York political association (founded just after the inauguration of President Washington) took its name. Its first meeting was held May 13, 1789. In memory of its namesake's Indian rank the officers were known as "sachems." A "Tammany Society" was also founded in Philadelphia and on its outings strove to reproduce the "local color" of the great chief's times and customs.

Italics.

Italics were first used about A. D. 1500 by Manthius, a Venetian printer, who dedicated them to the Italian states. Hence the name. The first book set up in italics was an edition of Vergil printed at Venice by Aldus in 1501. A copy of this rare book is preserved in the British museum.
